

Introducing Tabs3 Connect

Top billing software unveils a smarter way to access your practice from smartphones and tablets

Date: September 6, 2012

From: Software Technology, Inc. - Lincoln, NE

Software Technology, Inc. has introduced Tabs3 Connect - the best way for attorneys to enter fees, and review matter information and their firm's calendar anywhere they can connect to the Internet. Using innovative technology, attorneys with iPhones®, Android devices, iPads® laptops or even Apple® computers can access the Tabs3 and PracticeMaster information that is safely stored on their office computers – not up in the cloud.

“Tabs3 Connect gives attorneys the best of both worlds,” said Dan Berlin, President of Software Technology, Inc. “At their offices they have mature, full-featured billing and practice management software; and from their phones and tablets they can tap the screen to create a fee, review a client's file, and more.”

Tabs3 Connect uses the same SSL protocol used by banks and financial institutions to allow firms to securely access Tabs3 and PracticeMaster. From Tabs3 Connect attorneys can enter fees and costs, see all activity and a billing summary for matters, schedule calendar appointments and tasks for anyone in their firm, access their firm's entire contact list and client list without syncing to Outlook, and send eNote instant messages to anyone at the office. Additions and changes made via Tabs3 Connect automatically update Tabs3 and PracticeMaster at the office without manually merging or synchronizing. Tabs3 Connect is available for no additional monthly fee to Tabs3 and PracticeMaster Platinum clients on maintenance.
